
PATAGONIA PUMA EXPEDITION

Patagonia: Incredible Landscapes and Pumas

Ten days in Chilean Patagonia with multi award-winning wildlife photographer Martin Gregus. Track pumas across private reserve country at Laguna Amarga, photograph the peaks and valleys of Torres del Paine, and learn how to tell a wildlife story with patience, respect and intent.

DATES

23 Nov - 02 Dec
2026
02 Dec - 11 Dec
2026

DURATION

10 Days / 9 Nights

LOCATION

Puerto Natales,
Torres del Paine
and Laguna Amarga

GROUP SIZE

8 guests
6 spots left

PRICE

US$21,900 pp
US$10,950 deposit listed

HIGHLIGHTS

A field-first Patagonia expedition built around pumas, patience and place

01

5 Puma Tracking Days

Five days are dedicated to searching for wild pumas with Martin and expert local trackers in the Laguna Amarga region.

02

Private Reserve Access

Explore protected nature reserve country close to Torres del Paine, with private vehicles and room to follow conditions.

03

Martin Gregus

Learn from a Wildlife Photographer of the Year winner whose work spans polar regions, Patagonia and remote wilderness.

04

Photography Masterclasses

Field technique, puma behaviour, conservation context, editing sessions and image review are woven through the journey.

05

Torres del Paine Landscapes

Spend two days exploring and photographing the park's granite towers, lakes, valleys and shifting southern light.

06

Small Group Immersion

Just eight guests, full-board accommodation, all meals, welcome dinner, transfers and Airguides expedition support.

THE STORY

Deep into the wild heart of Patagonia

This is Patagonia at its most raw: granite peaks, sweeping valleys, open sky and pumas moving through one of the most dramatic backdrops on Earth.

The expedition begins in Puerto Natales with a welcome dinner hosted by Martin, then moves by private vehicle into Torres del Paine and onward to Laguna Amarga, your base for the puma days.

Over ten days, Martin helps the group read the landscape, anticipate wildlife behaviour and create images with intent rather than luck. The aim is not simply to see a puma. It is to understand how these animals live in this place.

Evenings bring the work to life through editing sessions, conservation discussion and story-led reviews with Martin and your Airguides expedition leader.

Puma encounters are wild and unscripted. Local trackers, Martin and the expedition team make daily decisions around weather, terrain, safety and animal behaviour.

"To be in the presence of a unique visionary like Martin Gregus and be welcomed into his home away from home in the middle of nowhere is truly a once in a lifetime event."

Anne Prather | United States

YOUR STORYTELLER GUIDE

Martin Gregus

Martin Gregus is an internationally awarded wildlife photographer and cinematographer whose work has taken him across all seven continents.

Born in Bratislava, Slovakia, Martin grew up surrounded by artists and learned photography from his father. National Geographic magazines shaped his early imagination, and local wildlife became his first classroom.

Nineteen years later, he has earned two wins and two nominations at Wildlife Photographer of the Year. His 2022 project, 33 Days Among the Bears, became an international story after National Geographic coverage, and his cinematography has contributed to productions for Disney, BBC and Netflix.

"When you're standing on polar ice at sunrise, you don't need convincing that this planet is worth protecting." – Martin Gregus

WHY BOOK THIS EXPERIENCE?

Because puma photography is earned, not stumbled upon

A standard tour can take you through Patagonia. This expedition is built to slow you down inside the fieldcraft that creates real wildlife images.

Martin brings the perspective of someone who has spent years working in extreme wilderness. Local trackers bring intimate knowledge of the reserve, the terrain and the cats that move through it. Together, they help guests understand where to look, when to wait and when to move.

The landscapes matter too. Torres del Paine is not just a backdrop. Its wind, weather, light and distance shape every decision, and learning to work with those forces is part of the experience.

DAY BY DAY

Your Patagonia puma itinerary

DAY	Welcome to Patagonia	PUERTO NATALES
1	Arrive in Puerto Natales, transfer to your pre-trip accommodation and settle in. In the evening, meet Martin, your expedition leader and the group for a traditional welcome dinner.
DAYS	Mind-Blowing Landscapes	TORRES DEL PAINE
2-3	Travel by private vehicle into the Torres del Paine region. Rise early for sunrise, explore the park's peaks, lakes and valleys with Martin and a local expert, then use the evening light for a sunset photography session.
DAYS	In Search of the Elusive Puma	LAGUNA AMARGA
4-8	Each morning begins with breakfast and coffee before heading into the wilds with Martin and expert local trackers. Search for pumas, learn field techniques, read behaviour and return for image review and hearty communal meals.
DAYS	Final Frames and Farewell	FAREWELL
9-10	The final chapter is shaped around conditions and onward travel. Review images with Martin, return toward Puerto Natales, share a last meal with the group and depart with transfers coordinated by the Airguides team.

IN THE FIELD

Local trackers, private vehicles and days that follow the cats

The expedition exists here because the Torres del Paine and Laguna Amarga region holds some of the highest wild puma densities on the planet.

That does not make sightings guaranteed. It means the team has a serious foundation: local tracking knowledge, private reserve access, repeated days in the field and a guide who understands how to work calmly around wildlife.

Each day is practical. Wake early, move with purpose, watch wind and light, listen to local advice, and let the story come together one decision at a time.

5

days trekking for pumas in the Laguna Amarga region

2

days exploring and photographing Torres del
Paine

8

guest maximum for a personal field experience

9

nights of shared accommodation included

ACCOMMODATION

Patagonian comfort after long field days

The journey includes two nights in Puerto Natales, two nights in Torres del Paine and five nights at Laguna Amarga, all on a shared basis unless a private room is confirmed.

In the domes, a spacious seven-metre diameter creates a warm, open atmosphere after a day outdoors. Twin beds or a king bed, a small living area, a fireplace and attached bathroom make the stay practical as well as atmospheric.

Shared twin rooms are standard. Private rooms may be requested, with a single supplement applying and subject to availability.

Few places make scale feel this immediate. Patagonia asks you to work for the image, and that is exactly why the images matter.

Airguides Field Note | Patagonia

THE DETAILS

What's included

Included

- 2 nights accommodation in Puerto Natales, shared basis
- 2 nights accommodation in Torres del Paine, shared basis
- 5 nights accommodation at Laguna Amarga, shared basis
- 2 days exploring Torres del Paine
- 5 days trekking for pumas with Martin and expert local trackers
- Private vehicles throughout the expedition
- Hotel and airport transfers
- All breakfast, lunch and dinner
- Welcome dinner
- Puma and conservation masterclass with Martin Gregus
- Wildlife photography and editing masterclasses with Martin Gregus
- Personal gallery of trip highlights by Martin Gregus
- Airguides expedition leader support

Final itineraries are determined by guides based on daily weather, wildlife, terrain and other local conditions.

Not Included

- International and domestic flights
- Airport taxes, excess baggage charges and transfers unless specified
- Visa, passport and entry costs where applicable
- Travel insurance, medical costs and evacuation cover
- Tips and gratuities
- Optional activities outside the confirmed itinerary
- Personal expenses and room upgrades
- Single supplement for private rooms unless confirmed by Airguides

Wildlife encounters and perfect weather are never guaranteed. That uncertainty is part of working in a real wilderness.

FAQ

What guests usually need to know

Will we definitely see pumas?

No. Martin, the local trackers and the location give the group a strong foundation, but pumas are wild animals. Every decision about where to go and when is made to give the group the best possible chance while respecting the animals and the landscape.

What level of fitness is required?

Moderate to good. You will spend five days trekking across uneven and occasionally steep terrain. If you plan to carry camera gear, factor that weight into your preparation.

Can I do this trip if I am not a photographer?

Yes. The expedition focuses on wildlife and landscape first. Martin's masterclasses are there for guests who want them, but travellers who simply want to watch pumas in one of the wildest places on Earth are welcome.

Do I need a visa?

Many nationalities can obtain a 90-day tourist visa on arrival in Chile. Check your own entry requirements before booking, as rules can vary by passport and change over time.

Is there a single supplement for solo travellers?

Yes. Solo travellers can request a private room for an additional fee. Airguides may also be able to pair solo travellers in shared rooms on a first-come, first-served basis.

Can Airguides help with flights?

Yes. The team can help with flight options and travel routing. Call, text or WhatsApp Airguides at +61 402 552 918 for planning questions.

PRICING & DATES

Patagonia 2026 confirmed departures

TRIP PRICE

US$21,900

Per person, based on the current live product page pay-in-full price.

DEPOSIT LISTED

US$10,950

The live product page lists a deposit option at this amount, currently marked unavailable. Confirm the payment schedule with Airguides.

AVAILABILITY

6 spots

The product page shows 6 spots left, with a maximum group size of 8 guests.

23 November - 02 December 2026 (Confirmed)

02 December - 11 December 2026 (Confirmed)

10 Days / 9 Nights

8 guests

Availability, currency, room configuration, supplements and payment terms should be confirmed directly with Airguides before booking.

READY?

Reserve your place in Patagonia with Martin Gregus

Two confirmed 2026 departures are listed now. Speak with Airguides to confirm the right dates, rooming, deposit availability and flight routing.

Reserve Your Spot

EMAIL

hello@airguides.com

PHONE / WHATSAPP

\(+61\) 402 552 918

WEBSITE

airguides.com